REMARKS.

We have now arrived at the close of the second year under the new school law, and we can truly say that the duties of the School Board have been much more pleasant than during the first year. As the people become better acquainted with the new order of things, there appears to be a more general approval of the change in the school laws. The first year some seemed to lose their interest in the schools, and showed a willingness to place obstructions in the way, rather than aid the Board in the discharge of their duties. This year the usual interest has been manifested, and everything, so far as we know, has passed pleasantly and successfully.

The outside districts are having longer schools than formerly, and all have a sufficient number of pupils to make them interesting.

We have been fortunate in securing faithful and competent teachers, which is, of course, the starting point for a profitable school. The closing exercises of each term have given evidence of patient and practical instruction on the part of the teachers, and studious habits on the part of the pupils.

There has been no school at the west part of the town during the year, because we believed there was not sufficient pupils to make an interesting school, and that the advantages at the Village schools would fully compensate for the extra distance travelled. We know it is not always pleasant or convenient to go so far to school, especially during the Winter term, but you must remember that this term is nearly an entire addition to the amount of schooling you had under the old system.

Pervading sickness wrought considerable injury to the Village schools by causing irregular attendance, and obliged one teacher to abandon her school altogether, but there is one consolation—the same disease cannot get a very strong hold here again for some time.

We have thought it not best to speak of each school separately, as necessarily there is so much sameness, where all are good, that it makes rather uninteresting reading. The statistics will be found in the tables.

We hope you will see it for your interest in the future, as in the past, to make liberal appropriations for the support of your schools.

GEO. C. HUBBARD,
O. J. WILLSON,

School Board of Gilsum.
